COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

TUESDAY EVENING, 27TH MAY 1879.

CONSOLS in London remain without change at 98⅞, and Enfaced Rupee Paper is likewise unaltered at 72½ for Fours, and 78½ for Fours-and-a-half, but French Rentes have advanced from 115 to 115¾.

Coffee, Cocoanut Oil, and Seeds are all unchanged as regards price. Linseed is reported firm, Rapeseed quiet.

Piece Goods in Manchester are reported quiet but firm, and Cotton in Liverpool, according to Reuter, closed firm, sales 7,000 bales, of which 700 were Surats. Spot prices are quoted 1-16d. higher all round, and to arrive private advices call the rise 1-16d. to ⅛d. The demand, however, notwithstanding the improved tone of the Market, is the reverse of active, and only small parcels can be placed at current rates.

From New York we learn by wire that ready Mid. Uplands there yesterday advanced from 13 to 13¼ cents., and August shipment from 13·29 to 13·61 cents. per lb. The Receipts at the U. S. ports to date show the following comparisons :—

	This week.	Last week.	1878.	1877.
Two days' Receipts	4,000	8,000	4,000	1,500
Three days' do.	7,000	11,000	7,100	2,600
Totalsince 1st Sept.	4,566,500	...	4,145,300	3,872,400

Bar Silver is quoted by Reuter at 51d. per oz., an advance of ⅛d., and from what we can learn private advices fully confirm the improvement.

EXCHANGES this morning opened firm at an advance of 1-16d. to ⅛d., and during the morning 1s. 9¼d. was done for telegraphic, but later this has not been obtainable, and the Market to that extent may be considered as closing slightly easier. As regards the future, however, the position shows great strength, and should the demand for Silver for China assume anything like the proportions anticipated, it seems by no means unlikely that we may see 1s. 8d. for demand Bank Bills at an early date. We now quote :—

Bank Bills on demand	1s. 7¾d.	per Rs.
Do. 6 months' sight	1s. 7¾d.	,,
Credits, 4 ,, ,,	1s. 7¾d.	,,
Documents, 3 ,, ,,	1s. 7 15-16d.	,,
France 3 ,, ,,	2·09 to ¼	,,

On Calcutta we still quote demand drafts at par to 1-16 per cent. premium, 60 days' sight at ¼ per cent. discount.

GOVERNMENT PAPER continues quiet without quotable change. Fours, Rs. 91½ ; Old Fours-and-a-half, Rs. 96 ; New, Rs. 95½.

The SHARE MARKET continues firm but quiet. Bank of Bombays are again ¼ per cent. higher at Rs. 672½ ; in Land Companies there is no change and in Press Companies the only movements are an advance of Rs. 50 in East India, and a decline of Rs. 5 in Mofussil. Spinning and Weaving Companies are somewhat irregular. We quote an advance of Rs. 25 in Alliance, Rs. 17½ in Khandesh, Rs. 15 in Madras United, and Rs. 5 in Great Eastern and Hindustan ; but there is a decline of Rs. 10 in Khatao Muconjee, Manockjee Petit, and Dhurrumsey. Bombay-Burmah Trading Co.'s shares are Rs. 25 higher.

COTTON has been firmer to-day owing to the tenor of the Liverpool advices, but only a very limited business has been done, the advance in Exchange having fully counterbalanced the improvement in Liverpool. As a matter of fact our quotations here to-day show a loss of ¼d. on Liverpool arrival prices irrespective of commission, and no business of importance is practicable so long as such a position exists. Some demand has been manifested for Good Fair Omrawuttee at comparatively high rates, but with this exception no transactions are reported. The receipts yesterday were 6,156 bales, making a total of 29,862 bales for the five days. Closing quotations as near as can be given are :—

Good Ginned Broach	.....	Rs. 263	per candy.
Good Omra	.....	,, 253	,,
F. G. F. do	.....	,, 247	,,
G. F. do	.....	,, 243	,,
Good Dholleras	.....	,, 245	,,
F. G. F. do	.....	,, 240	,,
G. F. do	.....	,, 235	,,

FREIGHTS are quiet, and for steamers, lower, 25s. per ton having been done for immediate shipment. By sail rates are steadier at 16s. 3d. for iron ships. For Trieste and Venice 35s. payable here is the quotation, and for Naples we hear the s. s. India has booked 500 tons for May shipment at 42s. 6d., payable here.

PIECE GOODS are practically unchanged. Owing to the advance in Exchange buyers only offer a decline of anna ¼ to anna 1 per piece, but stocks being light sellers decline to accept the reduction, and only a small business is passing in consequence. Local Goods and Yarns are quiet, and if anything the turn lower.

COALS are dull and buyers are quite out of the Market except for new cargoes, and even for these a decline of As. 8 per ton from the highest point may be quoted.

The Bombay Gazette

WEDNESDAY, MAY 28, 1879.

WE are glad to learn that the authorities are making good progress in the task of unraveling the plot to which it is now certain we must ascribe the recent disturbances in the Deccan. It is very necessary, we think, that the public should thoroughly understand the causes that have led up to those disturbances as at present, and with the existing mass of misstatements and misrepresentations which have been so industriously circulated by the native press, it is not easy to keep clearly in mind the original and main facts as well as the difficulties with which Government are now grappling. There is more involved also than is at first sight patent, for the main object of those who are responsible for the events to which we refer is not actual rebellion and revolution—that they know full well is far beyond their power to effect as yet—but simply to embarrass and to discredit the Government, and by means of disorder and alarm, to render more difficult the task of ruling the country. So far as the first part of the scheme is concerned—the spreading abroad of the notion that the people have been driven to lawless measures by cruel, injudicious, and too oppressive enactments—success to a certain extent has been apparently attained, for we believe it is too generally considered that, besides famine and distress, the new forest laws and that old grievance—the power which British law puts in the hands of grasping moneylenders—has had something to do with the dacoity movements now disturbing the country. Let us put this matter right. Whatever foundation there may be for the grievances referred to—and we are not prepared to deny that so far as the second one is concerned there may be some room for relief and reform—these have, however, nothing whatever to do with the recent occurrences, and the movement, we again beg to affirm most emphatically, is not as the native press would have it—an agrarian one.

To begin with the dacoiting branch of the question. By this time Government have obtained the names—we believe we are correct in stating—of nearly every man who has "gone out," and it appears that in no single case has a man taken up the plundering trade or has joined the bands now roaming the Deccan from reasons of distress or from dissatisfaction at the action of Sir Richard Temple's most necessary and long called for forest enactments. Indeed, with the exception of some fifteen men who belong to villages in the Purandhar taluks, not one of the dacoits come from districts affected by these laws at all, and the fifteen referred to, it has been ascertained, had none of them any grievance of the kind. So far, too, from the gangs being made up of men who have been driven to the jungles by distress or starvation, it has been proved that many possessed means and property of no little value, while not a few held land, and here again, in short, has no single case been discovered, whereby the dacoit was known to be suffering from previous distress. Therefore, some other theory than those we have mentioned must be advanced if we are to form correct opinions upon the case. It is true, however, that the dacoits do mostly belong to the two criminal classes of the Deccan and to classes who actually like excitement, and who, if it is made worth their while, are always ready to undertake any work which may relieve them from the monotony of their ordinary uneventful existence. Now, some of the wounded of the band dispersed by Major Daniel have been brought in and their confessions are throwing fortunately much light upon the whole question. Of course, it would be very wrong in the present juncture to make public the full particulars elicited, but we are able to say enough to convince the public that the action of these deluded people has not been spontaneous, and that they have been prompted and induced by others to take up their present trade. So far, indeed, did that inducement go, that the men who composed Dowlut Rao's band were engaged on the understanding that they would be paid monthly for their services, sums varying from ten rupees upwards. As loot accumulated the Brahman Wassudew Bulwunt was in a position to be very liberal, and latterly the whole band were making a very good thing of it. From Poona information was regularly received of the movements of troops; and, in short, the men believed they were the servants of some mysterious and ubiquitous power which would soon make itself felt everywhere. There is also good reason to suppose that the other two principal bands now wandering in the jungles have been organised on similar principles. The men composing them, as we have said, are known, and it has been ascertained that they had no good cause for leaving their villages, while it appears certain that pressure was put upon them by agents from Poona to turn dacoits.

The agrarian theory we may then surely take to be exploded, and we stand face to face with the fact that in the Deccan there exists, as we have on a former occasion remarked, a faction hostile to Government and a faction that busily occupies itself in stirring up disorder and trouble in the land wherever it can, and to which, as we have repeatedly observed, must we attribute both the dacoity movement and the recent Poona incendiarisms. It may, perhaps, have been observed that not one of the native papers, while accusing us of being alarmists, have ventured to contest the statement which we have so frequently made, that Poona for many years past has been considered to be a centre of disaffection. Indeed, the fact is notorious, not only among Europeans, but among natives themselves. A native gentleman now residing in Poona, and of high standing in the Government service, tells us that this disaffection he considers prevails chiefly among two classes. One is the old and bigoted Brahman caste, who are continually reading the ancient writings of a bygone age, who in great measure have lost their power since British rule and education began to make itself felt, and who constantly fancy that they can decipher from their books prophesies of a coming change in the powers that be. These men, we are assured, are disaffected beyond dispute; they would, and do willingly take all opportunity of stirring up sedition and treason, have given trouble in the past and are likely again to do so in the future. Then also there is the vast number of unemployed Brahmans that are yearly turned out of our schools by the hundred, with a superficial knowledge of English reading and writing, and who, from their earliest youth have been accustomed to hearing their elders continually spouting forth adverse criticisms upon the action of Government, that if not actually seditious, are not very far off from deserving that term. Can it be wondered that these younger men, taking the cue thus given them, have gone further than mere talking? We now know that they have, and a movement has sprung up, the results of which we have so recently witnessed, and which, we fear, meets with the sympathy of a larger proportion of the population than it is pleasant to contemplate. Thus the dacoit secretary, Wassudew Bulwunt, is neither a Brahman of the old school, or does he belong to the large army of the hungry unemployed. He was a Government servant and was drawing Government pay, showing that the movement possesses votaries who are outside the two classes we have named. For some time past, we believe, reports have been sent in to the authorities drawing attention to the unsatisfactory demeanour of certain classes in the city of Poona, and the employment of a secret police was in one or two quarters strongly recommended. Just before the troops left for Cyprus this feeling was very marked indeed, and rumours were industriously spread that British power was about to receive a heavy blow. The departure of the sepoys had, however, an unmistakably good effect, and nothing more was noticed until a few months ago, when it was discovered that one or two mendicant Brahmans were going about the streets preaching open sedition. Then, last month the Hindu astrologers' calendar for the year was issued. That document prophesied coming troubles. It stated that there would be much fighting in the land between the rulers and the people, that there would be disorder and robbery, and also that great loss from large fires would ensue. With these facts before us, it is surely idle to argue that there is no faction in Poona hostile to Government, and before the view we take of the causes that have brought about the recent incendiaries can be disputed, it is, we submit, necessary that some other more likely theory to account for these fires shall be brought forward than any that have yet been advanced by those who accuse us of unnecessarily alarming the public mind. It is said that there were only two incendiaries, and that all the subsequent fires were accidental. We beg to say that our information regarding the gunny bags found burning in the Fudke's palace was derived from a gentleman who was an eye-witness, and as to the remaining fires, while accepting the statement of the authorities that there was nothing to show them anything more than accidental, it is at least strange that they should occur at this time. Fires in Poona are surely not so very common! Another matter that requires to be set right, is that of the arrest of the prisoner Keshow Krishna. The credit of that is entirely due to the Subordinate Judge, Mr. Chintaman Sakharam Rao Bahadur, a native gentleman of long and valuable services, and who, by the way, is not a Brahman. He heard from his peons that the Book Depot people had been seen about the court on the previous evening. He sent for them and had them interrogated before several others including the City Magistrate, and that inquiry led to their arrest. As to ourselves we also have been persistently misrepresented. We have again and again been accused of charging the whole of the educated natives of Poona as being concerned in the crimes. Let us repeat what we did say at first, and what we again say now that "we do not believe they "are all implicated,—probably only the more "rash spirits among them have ventured on "active crime, but who those rash spirits are "must be perfectly well known to the majority "of the (Brahman) community." In the Times of India of last Saturday appears a history of the doings and character of Wassudew Bulwunt and Keshew Krishna from their earliest years, and the sayings of these two worthies—given vent to even as boys—were then reproduced. Now, we will at once say that we have not the same facilities as our contemporary for acquiring that description of information, but we would point out that the same source which was able to give these details about such two insignificant individuals, probably, can equally afford similar information about their companions. That is the object we have in view. We wish to point out to the Brahmans of Poona that it is incumbent upon them to speedily deliver up the criminals that are in their midst. As Mr. Moore told them they are in a better position than any one can be to find out who committed the crimes, and they ought not to leave a stone unturned until they remove the stigma and suspicion that, notwithstanding all that has been said and written on their behalf, still most undoubtedly in the minds of nearly all Europeans and of most natives, rests on their class. As to the Sarvajanick Sabha, we never had occasion to refer to that society in connection with this matter at all, until they sent that telegram to the Times of India which so impudently put in the mouth of the Collector words that he never uttered, while their message to ourselves, although more correct, was still misleading. We are far from thinking that the members of this insignificant society (known only to outsiders by its unasked for, pompous, and irritating opinions upon all questions under the sun,) that they sympathise with the incendiaries. They probably do not, but we would point out that a body of men who are always carping and finding fault with everything British, but from whom is never heard one word in acknowledgment of the manifold advantages that our rule has conferred on their country and on their class—that it is not to be wondered at if the objects of such a society should appear to outsiders to aim entirely at demonstrating the drawbacks of the presence of the European in India and not to assist Government. We would again recommend them for their own sakes to work energetically and to help the authorities to unearth the "instigators" for whom a reward of Rs. 5,000 is offered.

THE public will probably be relieved to find that Lord Chelmsford is at last, in deference to the openly expressed opinions of the vast proportion of Englishmen, to be superseded. A day or two ago we pointed out, while commenting upon the recent demand for reinforcements, how unsatisfactory the present disposition and arrangements of the large British force now at the Cape appeared to be, and said that if a general who had 16,000 English bayonets at his back did not feel himself confident of his ability to march—if need be—from one end of Africa to the other, it was hopeless to expect that a few fresh battalions would help him. At the same time it is rather alarming to think that there is only one General in the British Army to whom we must always turn in our day of trouble. From Canada to Ashantee, from thence to the Cape, then to Cyprus and back to Natal again, all in the course of a few years, is indeed a variety and also a monopoly of service and of important appointments. Still this "youthful commander" of nearly fifty years of age has thereby acquired great experience, and perfect confidence will be placed in his ability to carry the task now entrusted to him to a successful conclusion. Sir Bartle Frere is also to sink into a secondary position and will be let down as easily as possible, from the difficult position into which a too strict interpretation of the orders he carried with him from England had led him. It is not much use to talk of entertaining proposals of peace until we have taught Cetewayo that we are stronger than he is. To end a war and to conclude a treaty with a savage under any other conditions than that would be simple madness. He would certainly take the first opportunity of using his newly discovered power as soon as the Imperial troops were gone to overrun the colony from one end to the other and to drive the white man into the sea.

HEADS OF INTELLIGENCE.

(Home News, May 9.)

TELEGRAPHIC intelligence from Cape Town up to April 22 was received on Wednesday. The reinforcements from England had all reached Natal and had been safely landed.

Lord Chelmsford, at Durban, had arranged for the advance of the force in several columns into the Zulu country, and the movements commenced on April 21.

At the annual dinner of the Royal Academy, held May 3, the Prince of Wales, the Premier, and other distinguished personages were present.

Among the other business of the week in the Peers has been the discussion on a resolution in favour of opening museums and art-galleries in London on Sundays, rejected by 67 to 59, and on a bill to legalise marriage with a deceased wife's sister, of which the Prince of Wales, in presenting a petition from Norfolk, signified his approval, and which was rejected by 101 to 81.

In the House of Commons there have been debates on the Irish Land Act, on the Budget, on a resolution in favour of abolishing the action for breach of promise of marriage except in cases where actual pecuniary loss could be proved—carried by 106 to 65—and on a bill authorising the formation of volunteer corps in Ireland, which was read a second time with the assent of the Government.

The polling at Canterbury has resulted in the return of the Conservative candidate, Colonel Laurie, by a majority of fifty-six votes—250 less than was expected.

Prince Bismarck, last week, made a very long speech in the Reichstag advocating a protective fiscal policy.

In France also the Free Trade controversy is being waged with great earnestness on both sides.

The opposition to M. Ferry's University Bill has in no degree subsided, and the reassembling of the Chambers is expected to be followed by very animated debates.

The encouragement given by General Garibaldi to the extreme Nationalists of Italy has caused some apprehensions of possible difficulties, but it is now announced that he is about to return to Caprera.

A bicycle match, extending over six days, was concluded at the Agricultural Hall, May 3. The winner, Waller, rode during the week 1,172 miles, and five other competitors exceeded 1,000 miles.

A SUIT has been filed in the High Court, Bombay, against the proprietors of "Wilson's Great World Circus" for the purpose of getting the partnership dissolved from the 3rd April 1879 ; for the taking of an account and the appointment of a receiver ; for ascertaining the share of the late Mr. Samuel Omer Kingsley, a partner ; and for selling, if necessary, the property of the partnership by order of the Court. The plaintiff is Dr. Doolittle, executor of the last will and testament of Mr. Kingsley, who died at Bombay on the 3rd April 1879 ; and the defendants are Mr. John Wilson and Mr. W. Thomson. The plaint was presented by Mr. Starling, instructed by Messrs. Jefferson and Payne ; and it was accepted by Mr. Justice Bayley at his bungalow, Malabar Hill, on Friday last. His Lordship at the same time granted an injunction restraining the defendants from removing any of the cash or property of the partnership until the further order of the Court.

AT Agra a few days ago a man of A-4 R.A., when on sentry outside the guardroom, shot at a comrade who was lying down taking rest. The bullet struck the man in the ankle, smashing a bone and slightly injuring the other foot. The sentry was arrested.

SHOULD any of the Circus myths—the romances about Miss Victoria Cooke and her medal—be still floating about, says the Allahabad paper, they will be finally dissipated by Colonel Colley's letter which will be found elsewhere. Even the World, whose incredulity, if not ill natured, would be almost amusing, will hardly help being convinced. If, however, this authority still finds comfort in a stupid libel, there is no more to be said. Mundus vult decipi, decipiatur.

THE attitude of the tribes along the Kurram line is anything but re-assuring. The Ahmed Kheyls, for instance, have sent General Roberts another impertinent message declining to come in for the next two or three weeks, and mentioning Rs. 3,000 as their price for according him that favour. The Mahsud Waziris are collecting food by way of preparation for a fight.

IT was recently arranged that a reconnaissance should be made on the 17th instant into the Ahmed Kheyl country, across the Hariab, with a view to survey the country. Four hundred men of the 92nd Highlanders, 400 men of the 21st Punjab Native Infantry were to accompany the party ; and two companies of the 72nd Highlanders, two companies of the 5th Gurkhas were told off to wait in reserve at the village of Chapri. The enterprise was entrusted to Brigadier-General Forbes.

A CORRESPONDENT writing from Madras says, "It will soon now be decided whether we are to have an Opera Company again next season. Mr. Nazir, who brought the troupe here this year, and who suffered a great loss on his undertaking, is ready to bring a troupe next year, which shall so far be a better one, that it will have a chorus and orchestra of twelve each, if a sufficient sum is subscribed by the 1st July. He wants Rs. 15,000 not only guaranteed, but paid down. His season is to extend over one month only, and each seat is to cost Rs. 75. Some few subscriptions have been promised, but I very much question the large sum wanted being collected. Mr. Nazir anounces that the Governer has promised to take seats, a matter of some surprise to most people, for His Grace is not generally a patron of public entertainment."

THE Pioneer—The Government of India is following up its retrenchment circular by a cut at local Governments of a peculiarly unkind character. It is calling for returns, accounts, and estimates of expenditure on the residences of Lieutenant-Governors and such dignatories at hill stations ; and the object is not far to seek. The Viceroy's Palace, which was to cost a deal of money, was peremptorily stopped (with His Excellency's complete approval) by the Secretary of State ; and the Supreme Government does not see apparently why the same course should not be followed all down the line. Our readers are aware that a new Government House is under construction at Naini Tal ; but it is not likely that this work will be stopped. Indeed, to stop it now would be to throw away much labour, money, and material ; and, moreover, would discount future advantages by a ruinous system of immediate economy. The building, at present occupied by the Lieutenant-Governor (on hire), is insufficient, unsafe, and expensive ; the new house will actually conduce to a large eventual saving, and will be an ornament to the station as well as a proper official residence, becoming the rank and position of the occupant. The idea was broached long before Sir George Couper assumed the reins of Government—in those happy days when deficits were unthought of and retrenchments unknown.

THE following letter dated Bareilly, 19th May, is published in the Delhi Gazette :—" A regularly organized system of forging court-fee stamps appears to have been in existence for some years past, and which has been secretly engaging the attention of the authorities in these provinces lately. Several such stamps of one hundred rupees each were found to have been filed in court by Mr. Benson and other pleaders here, and accepted and punched as genuine by the court officials. These pleaders have explained satisfactorily that the stamps in question were purchased in the usual manner from the Government stamp-vendor, who, it would appear, is, or must have been, in league with some wealthy but cunning forger at Lucknow, where this bold stroke of business originated. Rumour says that several thousands of these 100-rupee court-fee stamps have been in circulation without any suspicion, and I must admit that they are a wonderful good imitation ; it remains to be seen if the guilty parties will be traced, and how the Government will deal with all such forged stamps which have been filed with plaints already disposed of or pending in appeal before a Superior Court ; as this fraud has affected the Government revenue so seriously, it is surmised that the clients will be called upon to disgorge the amount of the several forged stamps."

THE Madras correspondent of the Lahore paper writes :—The annual statement of the Chaplains and lay trustees of St. George's Cathedral, Madras, for the year 1878, has been published. The Cathedral Fund has suffered by the Government having withdrawn Rs. 70 per mensem of their grant. It is hard to say why this has been done, unless it is that His Grace the Governor has no taste for the Cathedral services and no interest in its choir. But it is not so difficult to account for the withdrawal of a portion of the congregation, the service itself having of late become tedious and wearisome to a degree, and the pew-rents being high. It is proposed to lower these ; it would be advisable also to curtail the sermons, cut off some of the hymns, and endeavour to throw some spirit and warmth into the service itself. As to the substitution of volunteers for paid choristers, I doubt whether such a step would be advisable ; volunteers are not easy to deal with, they like their own way, are apt to choose their own time, and to be careless as to the necessity for singing in time. The amateur is not equal to continual effort. To practice steadily in a Cathedral choir the attendant must be a pupil in every sense of the word. His time ought to be fixed for him, and nothing but ill-health or a serious cause accepted as a plea for absence. Mr. St. Leger, the organist, whose keen interest in Cathedral matters cannot be denied, is strongly against amateurs in the main body of the choir ; they may prove ornamental, but for use, obedience, punctuality, and attention to careful teaching, the paid singer is the only one to be relied upon. I only wish that those who plead for the introduction of volunteers into our Cathedral choir may some day have amateurs to direct. For a few months in the cold weather for theatricals or Philharmonic concerts they can and may work hard, but, on the other hand, the pressure of engagements, the business cares of their lives, are much against such work, nor could it be kept up throughout the year. Whatever expenses might be curtailed, the choir should at all costs be kept up. But the service itself might be made more popular, and funds would no longer be found wanting.

A LATE article in the Nova Vremya dwells at some length on the important services which an efficient Russian Consul at Bombay could render to his country.

RECENT authoritative information confirms the report that General Lazareff has superseded General Lomakin in the command of the projected Russian expedition into the Turkoman country. General Lazareff is said to be an Armenian by birth and possessed of an adventurous and daring spirit. The object of the expedition is rumoured to be the establishment of a Quatier General at Merv as a counterbalance to the success of late British policy in Afghanistan.

IT was reported at St. Petersburgh in March last that His Highness the Grand Duke Nicholas Constantinowitch, accompanied by a considerable staff, would early this summer proceed to Central Asia for the following purpose :—

(1.) To decide on the direction for the Central Asian Railway.

(2.) To inquire into the navigation of the Amu Daria, and

(3.) To ascertain beyond doubt whether that river can again be led through its former and now dried up bed into the Caspian Sea.

THE following information reported from St. Petersburg, with respect to the reorganization of the Russian Army of the Caucasus, is interesting :—In place of the former Dragoon and combined Cossack divisions, three Cavalry divisions, each of the two brigades, with the requisite Artillery have been formed. The 1st Division consists of the 16th and 17th Regiments of Dragoons, two Kuban Cossack Regiments, one regiment of Irregulars from Kutais, and two Kuban Cossack batteries of Artillery. The 2nd Division consists of the 15th Dragoons, two Kuban and two Terek Cossack regiments with two Kuban Cossack batteries of Artillery. The 3rd Division consists of the 18th Regiment of Dragoons, three Kuban Cossack regiments and one Terek Cossack battery of Artillery. The depôt squadrons of these Cavalry regiments are amalgamated and formed into a Caucasian Depôt Brigade of Cavalry. As the Russian Army in Europe has been reorganised into army Corps, so also since the beginning of the year are four out of the seven Infantry Divisions of the Caucasus formed into Army Corps. It would appear that the Russian authorities intend for the future to keep this army entirely separate.

THE Globe—It is to be hoped that the undertaking entered into by Colonel Stanley, in the House of Commons, will finally allay the feeling of dissatisfaction which has come into existence in some quarters regarding courts of inquiry. A clause will be added to the Army Discipline Act, guarding against the possibility of confusing the provinces of courts-martial and courts of inquiry, which seems to be the danger chiefly dreaded by those who found their spokesman in Sir Henry Havelock. The amendment moved by the member for Sunderland was too illogical for acceptance. Had it been passed, the Crown would still have enjoyed the right of dismissing any officer from the army without trial, but it would not have been permissible either to place an officer on half-pay, or to deprive him of an appointment without his previous trial by court-martial. As the Royal Prerogative is almost invariably used, in cases of dismissal, after a court of inquiry has investigated the matter, we fail to see why the same proceeding should be thought so very objectionable in cases where the punishment is less ; namely, deprivation of an appointment or relegation to the half-pay list. A court of inquiry really serves much the same purpose as a magisterial investigation. If it appears, after the evidence has been recorded, that the case against the accused has fallen to the ground, he is released from arrest. Should the evidence show, on the contrary, that the accused has erred, but not to an extent rendering trial by court-martial expedient, the difficulty may be got over by placing him either temporarily or permanently on half-pay. No doubt there have been some few cases of real hardship in connection with the exercise of this right in the Crown, but it is not easy to see why the major power of punishment should be left to the Royal Prerogative while the minor was taken away. This, as it appears to us, was what Sir Henry Havelock's amendment proposed to do.

IT would be a very great pity if, after the subject of habitual drunkards has been thoroughly investigated, and has at last come before the legislature in a tangible shape, the bill dealing with it should in the end prove a futile or inefficient measure. Much attention is therefore due to the views of those persons who, whether members of Parliament or not, have devoted themselves most zealously to the study of the question, and are presumably most fitted to judge of the prospects of the bill when passed. A deputation representing many of these persons had an interview with Mr. Cross, and mentioned at least one or two grounds upon which it may be feared that the course now proposed to Parliament will fall short of what is required. In the first place, the length of the time during which the new system is destined to be in force is denounced as being too short, inasmuch as competent persons will not make the needful preparations for receiving their patients if they suppose that in five years' time they will have to undo all they have done in this way. A much more serious grievance, however, is the fault found by the deputation with the preliminary steps by which habitual drunkards are to obtain admission to the new retreats. They declare that the obligation to go before two justices of the peace and make a public application is a step which neither the drunkard himself would often have the moral courage to take, nor his family would wish, if they could help it, to allow. The alternative proceeding suggested by the deputation is that he should, in the presence of one justice, or of a commissioner for oaths, sign an application for admission, and there can be no manner of doubt that by this course, involving infinitely less publicity and scandal, many more persons would be willing to enter the retreats. There are, as Mr. Cross pointed out, some dangers to be apprehended in any proceeding which allows the sequestration of weak-minded persons in a secret and silent manner. But these dangers ought to be proved to be really practical and imminent before they are allowed to interfere with anything which would tend to make the new retreats more generally useful and better filled.

THE FETE CHAMPETRE AT THE VICTORIA GARDENS.

MR. ANDERSON'S entertainment at the Victoria Gardens on Monday evening was a complete success on every point except that of attendance, the partial failure in which particular was due to the fact that probably half the people in Bombay did not know that the Fête was to be held that evening. Those who appreciate these al fresco entertainments—and probably there are few who have been to the Gardens on Fête nights who are not eager to go again—but were prevented from attending by this circumstance missed a treat. The gardens have never been so prettily and tastefully illuminated before, and the form of entertainment—occasional songs, alternately with selections by the excellent band of the Fusiliers, and with intervals for dancing in another part of the Gardens to the strains of another band—was eminently suited to the occasion. Amongst the songs sung were the touching ballad "Once Again" and an unusually amusing comic song, called "Who Cares," in character by Mr. Harry St. Maur ; the dust "The Sailor's Sigh," by Miss Nordt and Mr. G. Anderson ; a ballad "In Happy Moments" by Mr. Anderson ; and "Eccentricities" by the favourite local amateur "Christys"—"Kiskey" and "Sam Benson." The refreshment arrangements, under the superintendence of Messrs. Kelly and Co., proprietors of the Byculla and Waverley Hotels, were excellently managed. Another entertainment of a similar character is announced for Saturday evening next, when we are promised the additional attraction of an exhibition of the electric light in greater perfection than it has yet been seen in India. A machine which arrived recently from Europe is being fitted up in the Garden for the occasion.

2nd.—That the following clause be added to the Articles of Association of the Company immediately after clause 31, and that the numbers of the subsequent 31 A :—" Every person who may be entitled, in his own right to any share or shares standing in the name of his clerk, moonim, agent, servant, or nominee, may be registered as the holder of such share or shares, and during the lifetime or after the death of such Clerk, Moonim, agent, servant, or nominee, provided such profits as the Board may deem reasonable be sacrificed by such person as his title to such share or shares, and provided such indemnity be given as the Board may require.

3rd.—That the Directors be and they are hereby authorised and empowered from time to time to take such steps as may be thought necessary for carrying on the business of bleaching, dyeing and printing, as defined in para (4) of clause three of the Memorandum, and for those purposes or any of them to purchase and erect machinery and other materials and to do all such other things as may be necessary.

The resolution was passed unanimously, and the meeting adjourned with a vote of thanks to the chairman.
